The Tiger basketball team competed against Central Lyon, Rock Rapids in Class 2A first round action at the Wells Fargo Arena in Des Moines on Monday, March 7, falling 68-34 to the number-one-seeded Lions, and ending the Cinderella season.

"We're definitely the underdog heading into the state tournament," Red Oak head boys basketball coach Spencer Plank said before the game. "Especially with taking on the number one seeded team in the first round. We're used to being the underdog and have been most games this year, so this is nothing new. We're embracing the moment and the opportunity."

The Tigers struggled to get anything going, but were down by just four midway through the first quarter. The Lions, however, used a 10-1 run to end the first period with a 26-13 lead. The Tigers and Lions traded baskets throughout the second period, but Central Lyon was able to extend the lead by two and headed into the break leading 37-22. The Lions never let up, coming out in the third period and scoring the first 14 points, and holding the Tigers to a mere four points, putting the game out of reach.

Mason Gerleman led three Lions in double-digit scoring with 18 points.

Max DeVries led the Tiger scoring with 10 points.

Red Oak: DeVries one rebound, one assist, one steal; Ryan Johnson nine points, seven rebounds; Hunter Gilleland six points, one rebound, two assists, two steals; Jack Schmadeke three points, two rebounds; Chino Lepe two points; Cyrus Mensen two points, one rebound; Baylor Bergren one point, four rebounds; Aiden Bruce one point, three rebounds, one assist, one steal; Kaden Johnson three rebounds, one assist; Bryton Bergren one rebound; Tyler Beeson one rebound; Braden Woods one assist; Jack Kling one steal.

This was the fourth trip to the state tournament for the Tigers, with prior appearances in 1983, 1990, and 1993. They conclude the season 18-8, with a group of seniors who entered the season with a combined record of 16-49 from the past three seasons, winning just one game as freshmen. The remarkable turnaround, finishing as one of the top eight teams in Class 2A, is a storybook finish for the five seniors who exit the program: Baylor Bergren, Nicholas Fouts, Kaden Johnson, Ryan Johnson, and Bradley Sifford.

County misses brunt of severe weather

Tess Nelson
The Red Oak Express

“We were fortunate to not sustain much damage within Montgomery County from Saturday’s severe weather event that went through the area,” commented Montgomery County Emergency Management Director Brian Hamman.

He added a confirmed tornado was briefly spotted just south of Emerson going into Montgomery County however, due to the weak nature and limited damage, a definitive track cannot be determined by the National Weather Service. Two farmsteads just south of Highway 59 sustained damage along with several power poles in the area.

“The rain from multiple rounds of storms on Saturday was a blessing to the area given the dry conditions we’ve faced over the last several weeks. This week’s snow forecast will also help and lessen the area fire danger giving area fire departments a break from multiple wildland/grass fires that occurred,” Hamman said.

Lastly, Hamman said severe weather can strike any time of the year. “We saw it back in December and now already in early March. It’s important to have a way to receive severe weather alerts whether it’s AlertIowa or any of the many smartphone apps that are available.”

Exercise caution to avoid scammers when storm chasers come knocking

This Saturday’s tornadoes in Iowa were a painful reminder that severe weather is a constant threat in our state. Our hearts and thoughts are with those affected.

Unfortunately, storm-chasers are a threat in the immediate aftermath of natural disasters. These fly-by-night opportunists swarm in after the weather has passed, seeking to scam unsuspecting victims in a particularly vulnerable moment.

Now that March has begun and a disastrous storm has already hit the heartland, it’s time again for us all to be on guard against them.

Right after a storm hits

- Gather evidence of the damage. Use your phone to take photos of any damage.
- Use tarps and plywood to make temporary repairs, as you may be held responsible for any post-storm damage.
- Call your insurance company first to find out what your policy covers and how much time you have to file the claim.
- Save any storm-related receipts such as living expenses if you must shelter elsewhere.
- Ask if your insurance company recommends a contractor.
- Check out any contractor being considered with the BBB at bbb.org, or call the BBB team at 800-222-1600.

When storm chasers come knocking

Here’s what to remember as you deal with door-to-door repair folks:

- Don’t make quick decisions. Take their business card and ignore high-pressure sales tactics.
- Ask questions. Are they bonded? Licensed? Insured? Is work done by employees or sub-contractors? Who will be on-site as the supervisor? Do they have Workman’s Comp insurance? Where is their physical office? What’s their direct phone number? Ask for and check references.

- Look at their vehicle. Do they have local plates? Is the company name on display?
- Get written quotes. Be suspicious of low estimates.
- Read everything on the contract carefully.
- Never sign a contract until you have checked that company at bbb.org.

And for those not harmed by the storms ... commit to the household inventory you’ve been putting off.

Make this the year you finally get around to cataloging your belongings? The advantage it will give you if you need to tell your insurance company what items were lost to storm damage (or another type of calamity such as a house fire) is huge. Here’s how:

- Utilize any online tools your insurance company may provide.
- Go through your home and take videos and photos of your belongings.
- Look for the most helpful data: serial numbers of appliances and other large items and, if possible, records of what you paid for items.
- Use the cloud or a safely stored thumb drive to save records of these important documents including the last seven years of IRS tax returns, vehicle records, investment statements, loan and mortgage records, legal items such as wills and trusts, insurance documents, pension plan documents, records of births, deaths, marriages, divorces, military service, and Social Security cards.

Let’s hope that the remainder of the storm season this season is calm. But if severe weather hits, don’t double your pain by getting ripped off by a dishonest storm-chaser. Get answers to any additional questions by checking with BBB or visiting our website at BBB.org or contact us at info@dm.bbb.org or 800-BBB-1600.

Many St. Patrick’s Day traditions are not from Ireland

St. Patrick’s Day is made special by various traditions. Everything from dyeing major cities’ rivers green to parades to enjoying green foods has become part of the pageantry of St. Patrick’s Day.

The next time you raise a green beer to your lips, you may wonder which traditions are authentically Irish and which ones were created by regions with an abundance of Irish emigrants. Surprisingly, many seemingly Irish traditions likely began elsewhere.

First parade

It would be accurate to assume that various elements associated with St. Patrick’s Day began where St. Patrick, the patron saint of Ireland, once resided, including the first St. Patrick’s Day parade. However, some of the first parades held in St. Patrick’s honor took place in two North American cities, New York and Boston, that had high numbers of Irish immigrants. But historians say the first ever St. Patrick’s Day parade was actually held in St. Augustine, Florida in 1601, a year after gunfire blasts were used to honor the saint. The parade may have been at the request of an Irish priest living there at the time.

Corned beef and cabbage

What would St. Patrick’s Day be without an authentic meal of corned beef and cabbage? This dish is not so authentic after all, and actually is an American innovation. Ham and cabbage was widely eaten in Ireland, but corned beef was a cheaper alternative found in America by immigrants. Therefore, corned beef became a staple of poor Irish immigrants living in lower Manhattan. The salted meat was boiled three times to remove some of the brine and make it palatable.

Green beer

Green beer is not an Irish custom, but an American one. The most common beer consumed in Ireland is Guinness, which is dark brown to black in color, making green dye useless in Irish pubs since it would be largely invisible in the stout.

Golf tournaments

One would not associate golf with

St. Patrick’s Day unless they reside in Nome, Alaska. Golf is a popular Irish pastime, and each year the Bering Sea Ice Classic Golf Tournament takes place right around St. Patrick’s Day. Bright green golf balls are used, and breaks are factored in between holes to warm up at local bars.

Wearing green

According to The Christian Science Monitor, individuals in the United States started wearing green to celebrate St. Patrick’s Day in the early 1700s. They believed it “made one invisible to leprechauns.” The official color for the holiday used to be a sky blue known as “St. Patrick’s Day Blue,” established during the reign of King George III.

In addition to these traditions, specialty items, such as coffees and shakes, also are very popular. However, most of these do not have origins on the Emerald Isle, either. Yet, no matter where traditions began, there’s no denying St. Patrick’s Day has long inspired celebration.

A shamrock isn’t any old clover

Much like New York City’s Empire State Building or Egypt’s great pyramids are in their respective countries, the shamrock is an icon in Ireland that has grown to symbolize Irish heritage and culture. Many products, sports teams and businesses with ties to Ireland feature shamrocks in their logos.

So it should come as no surprise that shamrocks also are a major part of St. Patrick’s Day celebrations. After all, this is a day to pay homage to Ireland’s patron saint - as well as the country itself.

The Irish are quite protective of their shamrocks, and some are quick to point out that shamrocks and certain clovers, including the supposedly lucky four-leaf clover, are not interchangeable. Some botanists will agree.

All shamrocks are clovers, but not all clovers are shamrocks. The home and garden resource The Spruce indicates that the term “shamrock” comes from the Gaelic word seamrog, meaning “little clover.” There is no consensus as to which species of clover is the true shamrock. However, many botanists agree that the white clover (Trifolium repens) is the shamrock. However, the lesser trefoil, or hop clover, the black medick and red clover all can be contenders.

Four-leafed clovers of any variety are not shamrocks and should not be portrayed as such. That is because the shamrock is a three-leafed sprout that was believed to be utilized by St. Patrick to demonstrate the principle behind the Holy Trinity. St. Patrick, pointing to the three leaflets united by a common stalk, used this visual analogy to spell out the mystery of Christianity’s doctrine of three entities making up one Lord: God the Father, God the Son, and God the Holy Spirit. Therefore, for all of the purported good luck finding a four-leaf clover may bring - based on mythology imparted by ancient Celts called Druids - it cannot be passed off as a shamrock.

DO YOU REMEMBER WHEN...?

Archived from 2017, 2012, 1997, and 1972 editions of The Red Oak Express

5 Years Ago	10 Years Ago	25 Years Ago	50 Years Ago
Downtown Red Oak was named a historic district by the U.S. Department of the Interior. Jim Hoskinson, Chairman of the Red Oak Historical Preservation Commission, said the designation would serve as a benefit to buildings that contribute to the designation. The buildings now had the benefit of being able to get tax credits for preservation and restoration as long as the projects were within Department of the Interior guidelines. Four Red Oak girls basketball players made the Hawkeye 10 all-conference teams. Sierra Athen was a first team selection, Hannah Vial was named to the second team, and Sophie Walker and Ellie Rengstorf were both named to the honorable mention team.	After operating in the Red Oak community for more than 35 years, the sun was setting on Pamida, and the South Broadway location was earmarked for closure in August. The location was named as one of only six locations that would be completely closed, rather than converted into a Shopko. According to Shopko officials, after a study, it was determined there wasn't enough business in Red Oak to warrant the location being converted. Two Red Oak Community High School girls basketball players were named to the all-conference team in the Hawkeye 10. Gabi French was selected to the first team, and Kate Walker was an honorable mention.	Less than two months after being brought on duty by the Red Oak Police Department, the department's certified drug detection dog netted her first arrest. An Earling couple was arrested and face drug charges. The dog's name was not given for safety considerations. According to her handler, Robert Ives, the quick success was unusual, and it usually took six months for a first bust. The Stanton Vikings boys basketball team was shipping off to state competition after a 68-43 win over the Adair Casey Bombers. The 24-1 Vikings were seeded fifth in state competition, and would challenge Newell-Fonda. Ruffles chips were two for $3.98 at No Frills in Red Oak.	Red Oak's gross sales for the FY ending June 30, 1971, totalled $41,882,532, 1% less than the total reported for the previous year, $42,176,514. This amount was still less than the state average, which dropped 4%. Stanton's gross sales were up 5%, at $1,597,869, and Villisca's gross sales rose 2.5%, to a total of $7,145,777. Red Oak High School seniors Bill DeWitt and Steve Morrison were elected co-captains of the Tigers basketball team. The selection was made following a vote of the high school letterman, and nine students were also given letter awards. Blue Bonnet margarine was only 29 cents per pound at Hunt's Super Valu in Red Oak.

IDPH recalls baby formula

The Iowa Department of Public Health is issuing a notice regarding a baby formula recall.

Abbott is recalling one lot of Similac PM 60/40 (Lot # 27032K80 (can) / Lot # 27032K800 (case)) manufactured in Sturgis, Michigan. This is in addition to lots of Similac, Alimentum, and EleCare powder formula that were recalled on Feb. 17. The FDA's investigation related to powder infant formula produced in Abbott's Sturgis, Michigan facility related to Cronobacter and Salmonella infections in infants is ongoing.

Affected products are in circulation in Iowa retail locations and have been distributed in small numbers through the Iowa Department of Public Health's (IDPH) WIC program. If Iowans possess any of the affected products, it should not be fed to infants. Similac PM 60/40 is specialized formula for infants with impaired renal function, so the number of Iowans impacted will be relatively low.

Products affected by the formula recall can be exchanged with retailers for an identical authorized supplemental food item. WIC authorized retailers should follow their store policy for exchange and substitutes (which may include, but are not limited to, the same product, a substitute product, store credit, or a cash refund.)

IDPH is providing more flexibility to participants, allowing them to purchase an alternative formula for the rest of February and March. If WIC participants have questions, they should contact their local WIC clinic: <https://www.signupwic.com/>

At this time, this is the only type and lot of this specialty formula being recalled. Abbott is disseminating recall letters directly to customers.

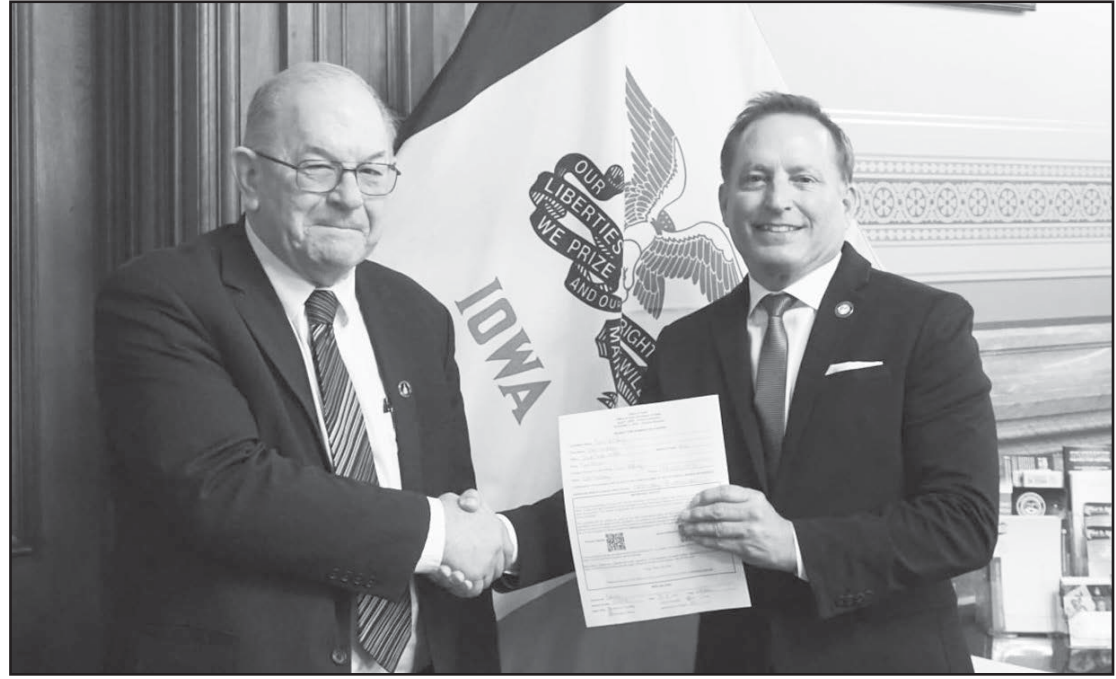

Iowans can check to see if they have recalled infant formula by:

Review the codes on the bottom of their formula packages.

Visiting the company's website: similacrecall.com. Calling the company at 1-800-986-8540.

Shipley files official nomination papers

Senator Tom Shipley, R-Nodaway, filed official nomination papers at the state Capitol this week. "This week I filed my nomination paperwork to represent southwest Iowa for another term in the Iowa Senate," Senator Shipley said. "For the last eight years, I have been committed to making sure rural Iowans are given a voice at the Capitol."

"During my time in the Senate, I've advocated for agricultural issues, rural healthcare, and education. I've supported historic tax cuts that help families keep more money in their pockets. My work in the Senate isn't done yet. I have lived in southwest Iowa my entire life, and I know firsthand what issues this area of the state faces. I look forward to meeting and connecting with more constituents in the upcoming months."

Senator Shipley was first elected to the Iowa Senate in 2014. He is the chair of the Local Government standing committee and vice-chair of the Agriculture and Natural Resources Appropriations Subcommittee. He also sits on the Agriculture, Judiciary, Natural Resources and Environment, and Transportation committees. After the passage of new redistricting maps and effective with elections in 2022, Senate District 9 will include all of Cass, Montgomery, Adams, Page, Taylor, and Ringgold counties, as well as part of Union County.

Senator Shipley is a proud father and grandfather. He was born and raised in Adams County and is the fifth generation in his family to be involved in agriculture. Much of his life has been devoted to agriculture as an advocate, teacher, and farmer. He currently has a small farming operation and cow herd in Nodaway. He served 18 years on the Villisca School Board and has worked as an elder, deacon, and Sunday school teacher in the First Presbyterian Church.
