The grass is green, trees are budding, and the promise of blooming flowers is in the air. As we look around our properties and walk through our beautiful community, it's a great time to clean up or help pick up what Mother Nature left behind through the winter months.

Ribbon Cutting

Thursday, April 21, the Chamber and Red Oak Ambassadors celebrated with the owners of BP/Lincoln Farm and Home, Mark and Nancy Lincoln and Nate Lincoln, their newly renovated Red Oak location. After opening this store 20 years ago, they felt it was time to upgrade their gas pumps and technology. In the near future, you will see some other enhancements on the outside of the building.

IN THE NEWS

Thank you to everyone who made Lil' Vikes Soccer a success!

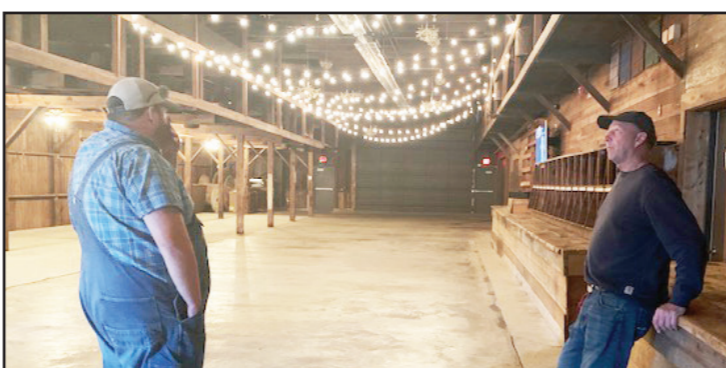

A fun day for kids in Stanton Saturday with the Easter Egg hunt. Thanks to the Stanton American Legion for hosting the egg hunt at Accura Healthcare!

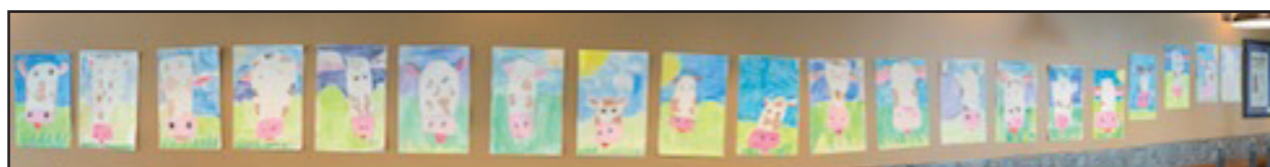

The Swedish tradition of welcoming May and springtime will be observed in Stanton on Saturday, April 30, in the evening.

The Swedish song "Maj-sång" (May Song) but known locally as "Sköna Maj" (pronounced "When am I" meaning "beautiful May") will be sung by male singers. We will sing at three (3) outside locations: (7pm) the east side of the Swedish Heritage & Cultural Center (Old Main), (7:15pm) in the courtyard of the Accura Health Care Center, and (7:30pm) in front of the FMTC Tech Center in downtown Stanton. You're invited to come listen to us at any of the locations. You can stay in your vehicle if you wish. There should be parking available on the east side of SHCC and on Main Street if you'd like to hear us. Enjoy!

Thanks to everyone that attended the Stanton Quilling Workshop!

ANDERSON AMONG RURAL LEADERS HONORED AT IOWA RURAL SUMMIT

AMES, IA – The 6th Annual Iowa Rural Summit last week included a special recognition of "rural heroes" – and Stanton businessman/community leader Mickey Anderson was one of the seven individuals honored at a special reception at Iowa State University. The Rural Summit brings together leaders from small towns across Iowa each year, and this year's event included a special tribute to a group of individuals who have made a difference in their rural community or region. The event also recognized the contributions of Rand Fisher, the recently retired Iowa Area Development Group CEO. The Rand Fisher Rural Leadership Award, sponsored by the IADG Community Foundation, recognized individuals in the rural economic and community development, philanthropy, the arts and utilities.

"Mickey was selected for his impact in Stanton and throughout Montgomery County over many years," said Mark Reinig, board chairman of the Iowa Rural Development Council (IRDC) which hosts the annual Rural Summit. "His work shows how small towns can thrive through great leadership and innovative projects."

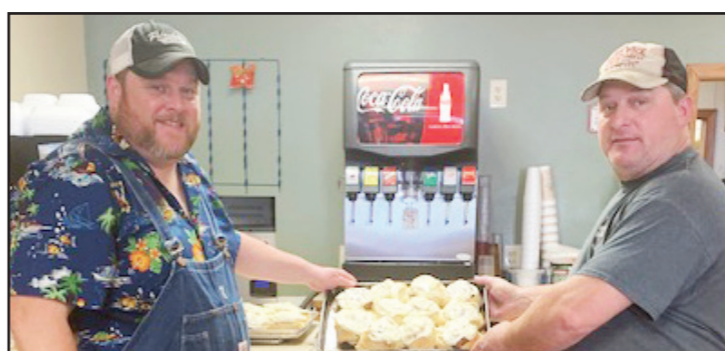

With a crowd of more than 360 individuals from 70 different small towns (including Stanton and Red Oak), the Iowa Rural Summit addressed issues ranging from ag tech innovation to arts and culture to entrepreneurship.

Other honorees included Chris Deal, Jefferson; Maureen Elbert, Algona; Deb Lucht, Minburn; Joe Sorenson, Des Moines, and Jim and Julie Vermeer, Spencer.
